YEAR 1

Coming up next week...
23.06.25

Maths

In Maths this week we will be learning about time. We will explore using different vocabulary related to time throughout the week. First, we will describe our own routine and use "before", "after", "first", "next" and "finally" to describe, sort and order events. We will learn the sequence of the days in a week and know that there are 7 days that repeat in a cycle. We will then explore the sequence of the months of the year and begin to learn the number of days in each month.

Maths Homework

Have a look at a calendar. Start with looking at one week. How many days are there? When are the children at school? When are adults at work? Is there anything that happens repeatedly, on the same day of the week? Then look at the months of the year. How many are there? What are the names of them? Practise saying the order they come in. Which month would be before or after a given month? When do people in your family have birthdays? How many days are there in these months?
